

Financial support for translations

There are several avenues to explore around financial support for translations. Some countries offer funding for authors from their specific countries, while other bodies are based in the country of English publication. You can also find out more with some useful resources from the UK organisation BookTrust: www.booktrust.org.uk/what-we-do/programmes-and-campaigns/in-other-words

English PEN

For UK-based publishers, English PEN offers funding up to 100% of translation costs through their PEN Translates scheme. Submissions open twice a year, usually with the closing date of 31st May and 30th November. Books for young people are eligible. See the English PEN website for more details: www.englishpen.org/translation/pen-translates

PEN/Heim America

Grants of $2,000-$4,000 for translations into English, administered by PEN America. Open to translators from any country. www.pen.org/pen-heim-grants

Argentina

The Programa Sur (PROSUR) is a result of the commitment made by the Argentine Government to promote the translation of works by Argentine authors. This includes literature for younger readers. More details can be found on their website. www.programa-sur.cancilleria.gob.ar/en/index.php

Uruguay

The Programa IDA is aimed at foreign publishers who wish to publish Uruguayan works abroad, including literature for younger readers. More details can be found on their website. www.uruguayxxi.gub.uy/en/i-want-to-export/tools/ida-program-2021/
